BLOOD FLOWS AFTER CHASE

MOST THRILLING SHOOTING AFRAY PASSED INTO NEW YORK LIME LIGHT.

PAIR, TRAPPED, FIRE

MAN AND WOMAN SHOOT DOWN FIVE WHO PURSUE.

KILLS COMPANION THEN SELF

Tragedy Unparalleled Occurs as Detectives Approach Door of Hotel Located in the Bronx.

New York, Nov. 18.—A man and woman stood in a small room of a Haines Law Hotel in the Bronx tonight and deliberately shot down three detectives and two other men who were trying to place the pair under arrest. After nearly emptying the eleven chambers of a large automatic revolver in the hands of his woman companion, and probably fatally wounding four of those who he shot down, the man shot and killed the woman and then put a bullet through his own head, dying instantly.

This is the outline of one of the most serious shooting affairs of this city in years, so far as the conflicting stories of the shooting had sifted late tonight.

The dead man was known by several names, having registered at the hotel as Joseph Vogel. The police declare that he was a Pole named Phereas Dorazanski. The woman, with him had registered as Lottie Vogel. Vogel was about 45 years old and the woman about 25.

Detectives Trail Pair.
The detectives were on the trail of the pair, suspecting them of having been accomplices in a diamond robbery, for which Sophie Beckendorf, a domestic, had been held for the grand jury today. The woman, who had lost her jewelry, traced the girl to Vogel's house and told the detectives of her discovery. After a tactical chase today, the detectives learned that the Vogels had sought lodging at the Elmore hotel at Cortland avenue and one hundred sixty-first street in Bronx.

Central Office Detective Martin F. Fay and Private Detective John Allen and Louis Gerade went to the hotel in search of their quarry late tonight. Louis Mondschien, the proprietor, told of the couple having arrived in a taxi early in the evening, and ordered Wm. Butler, a waiter, to show the detectives to the Vogels' room.

Vogel opened the door in response to a summons, and as Allen forced his way in, declaring the couple under arrest, Vogel struck the detective over the head with a blackjack and then grabbed up a magazine pistol which lay upon the bed. His first bullet struck Allen in the head and he fell probably fatally hurt. Detectives Fay and Gerade rushed into the room, followed by Proprietor Mondschien and Butler. It is declared that they did not fire, but expected to seize Allen's assassin. They were not quick enough.

Vogel let go one shot after another, nearly every one taking effect. Fay and Gerade were both wounded, probably fatal wounds in the abdomen. Gerade was shot in the leg and back, while Butler received a bad wound in the hip. The woman, who also was armed, fired several shots, some of which are believed to have hit the detective.

Evidently crazed at his gunwork, Vogel turned to his woman companion and shot. She was shot through the abdomen and soon died. Vogel then made quick work of himself by putting the last bullet from his gun into his head. At a hospital, to which all of the wounded were removed, it was said that probably all except Butler will die.

At a late hour two trunks and two suitcases which the couple had taken to the hotel were removed to a police station, but the stolen jewelry was not found.

Believed Robbers.
The police say that it is trailing the Vogel pair, the detectives were probably running down a completely organized scheme for robbing residences throughout the upper West side. The indictment on which the Beckendorf girl was held charged her with robberies of jewelry amounting to several thousand dollars.

According to the police the girl tonight confessed. She gave the stolen articles to the Vogels. The plan was for the girl to advertise for a position as a domestic and as soon as she had obtained it to rob her employers.

200 FARMERS TO ARMS

With American Flag in Lead, They Refill Canning Out.

Lima, Ohio, Nov. 18.—An army of 200 determined Allen county farmers, rallying around an American flag and armed with picks and shovels, fought off a construction gang of the Chicago & Erie Railroad company, and refilled a grade crossing cut near here, undoing work which had cost the railroad thousands of dollars.

The clash was the result of the railroad's refusal to keep the highway open while a bridge across the Erie's double track was in the course of construction.

Bay, 16, Attempts Own Life.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Ragaw Lindstrom, 16 years old, a cripple, was prevented from cutting his throat in the juvenile court today by the prompt action of Albert Rusk, a bailiff, who disarmed him. Judge Fincham had ordered the boy sent to the St. Charles school.

SERVIANS GET BIG VICTORY

IMPORTANT TOWN OF MONASTIR GRASPED FROM TURKISH GRIP.

50,000 MEN CAPTURED

GREATEST INDIVIDUAL SUCCESS SINCE START OF WAR.

CONDITIONS ARE DISTRESSING

Greeks Cut Off of Retreat Believed to Have Aided Forces to Make the Seizure.

London, Nov. 18.—Any idea that the Turkish government may have had of benefitting by continued resistance must be shattered by today's news of the fall of Monastir.

In the capture of that important town, the Servians took three Pashas, including the commander-in-chief, Zekki Pasha, 50,000 men and forty-seven guns, thus achieving the greatest individual success of the war.

Monastir was the second city of importance in European Turkey. It was Turkey's stronghold in Macedonia and by its downfall Macedonia passes completely out of Turkish hands.

What part the Greeks played in the capture has not yet been ascertained. It is known that the Greek army was marching to the assistance of the Servians and it is supposed that the Greeks were able to cut off the Turkish retreat to the south.

The Servians naturally will be elated at this victory, which outshines the capture of Salonika and must have a great moral effect on the future course of the war.

News From Constantinople Lacking.
Another of the strange silences which have been characteristic of this war appears to have fallen over Constantinople, from which only brief dispatches have been received telling of the resumption of the Tchatalja battle and that the sultan has made a fresh personal appeal to the European sovereigns to intervene for the termination of the war.

Quite as little may be expected to come of this appeal as of the previous attempt at mediation by the powers. Hammering at Capital Goes On.

With cholera and typhus ravaging her demoralized army and a powerful enemy hammering at the gates of the capital, Turkey must again appeal to the allies for aid. Undoubtedly the object of the commander in ordering the attack on the Tchatalja lines was to compel this course. It seems incredible that Bulgaria for the mere glory of a triumphal entry in the city should desire possession of a should wish to take her army into a disease-infected zone.

Turkish reports, even the officers' official despatches of the results of the operations have been so unreliable throughout that little attention can be paid to the statements regarding the Tchatalja battle issued at Constantinople Sunday and Monday. The operation probably was little more than an artillery preparation for the purpose of drawing the enemy's fire and locating his batteries.

As the effect of the victory at Monastir will be to stiffen the Servian government in resisting Austrian pretensions, the consular troubles at Priared and Mitrovitz are breeding a spirit of ill feeling between Austria and Servia, little calculated to favor diplomatic negotiations. The newspapers of both capitals reflect this feeling.

No news has yet reached Vienna of the Austrian consul Prochaska at Priared. The Servian government has declined to comply with Austria's request to allow an Austrian representative to go to Priared to make inquiries and practically ignores Austria's protests on the subject.

There is a report that Scutari has fallen before the Montenegrin attacks, but this is not confirmed. Proof that the cholera has affected the Bulgarian army comes in a report that the noted German doctor, Roth, has been summoned to Bulgarian headquarters to assist in stamping out the disease.

Sultan Appeals for Intervention.
Constantinople, Nov. 18.—The sultan has addressed an appeal to the sovereigns of the great powers. It is stated on good authority, requesting intervention to end the war.

A more optimistic tone prevailed in official circles today, due to confidence that the troops will be able to hold the lines at Tchatalja.

It is reported that cholera and typhus are causing fearful ravages in the Bulgarian ranks.

According to the war office, the battle in the center of the Tchatalja lines continued today. Mahmoud blithely division attacked the Bulgarians, throwing their formation into disorder and capturing several guns. The Turkish division, however, sustained heavy losses.

Turkish Capital Now Threatened By Allies

SNEED'S DEFENSE THAT CAPT. BOYCE ADVANCED BEFORE SHOT; VISITORS SEARCHED

Fort Worth, Nov. 18.—Counsel for John Beal Sneed undertook to turn the testimony of state's witnesses to prove that Capt. Al G. Boyce Sr., was advancing toward Sneed when he was killed in the Metropolitan Hotel lobby the night of Jan. 13, when Sneed's murder trial began Monday.

Four witnesses were examined during the morning, following Sneed's plea of not guilty. They were: Fred E. Mueller, undertaker, who answered an ambulance call and took Captain Boyce to St. Joseph's infirmary before he died; Dr. W. E. Chilton, who heard the shots and attended the wounded man before he died; J. J. Burnett, a Stephenville banker, and S. B. Cherry, a Galveston traveling salesman, both eyewitnesses to the tragedy.

Sneed Spectators Searched.
All who enter the courtroom during the Sneed trial will be searched for weapons. This order was issued by Judge Swayne Monday afternoon, because of "certain rumors." This rule becomes effective Tuesday. It was in effect constantly during the first trial. The testimony at the beginning was a repetition of the testimony in Sneed's first trial.

Friends of the wealthy Amarillo ranchman crowded about him to shake hands and offer good wishes when court was adjourned for the noon recess.

Sneed Children Coming.
Sneed's two little girls, Lenora, 11, and Georgia, 8, will come to Fort Worth to attend the trial. They are expected tonight. Mrs. Sneed, whose elopement with Al G. Boyce, Jr., preceded Sneed's killing of Captain Boyce here and later, at Amarillo, A. G. Boyce, Jr., will not attend the trial.

Sneed took advantage of the Sunday recess of court to visit his family at Calvert.

Will Boyce, son of Captain Boyce, went to Austin Saturday night to make sure the appearance of an important state witness. He returned to Fort Worth Sunday night and was at the trial Monday.

Important Witnesses.
S. B. Cherry, Galveston, traveling salesman for C. & Co., was perhaps the most important of the four witnesses examined Monday. He testified that Captain Boyce was rising from his chair when Sneed was shot.

Cherry turned after the second shot. J. J. Burnett of Stephenville, the other eyewitness examined Monday, had testified Captain Boyce was in the center of the lobby when Sneed shot him.

"He was rising from his chair near the cafe entrance when I first turned toward the scene," Cherry said. "He seemed to be trying to run and when he sank to the floor he was near the center of the lobby."

The witness testified a man laid one hand on Sneed's shoulder after the last shot had been fired.

Cone Johnson of the defense's counsel, read to him his own testimony at Sneed's habeas corpus hearing last January. He had testified a man embraced Sneed, that he laid his hands on both shoulders of the man with the pistol. Cherry said he was wrong if he had testified that.

"The shots," the witness said, "came so rapidly they sounded like the popping of firecrackers."

Witness is Retained.
"Were you ever a witness in any litigation before?" Attorney McLean of the defense asked him.

"No, sir," he answered. "This is my first offense in court." Sneed's trial was not finally dismissed. He promised Senator Hanger of the prosecution, that he would let him know every movement he made between towns so that he might be recalled any day during the trial.

Every seat in the courtroom was filled.

POLICE KNOW SLAYER

IDENTITY OF MAN WHO ADMITTED KILLING JOSEPHS BOY IS ESTABLISHED.

Lackawanna and Buffalo Police Want Grand Jury Indictment—Confident of Arrest Soon.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Confident they have established the identity of the man who in a series of postcards and letters confessed to the murder of Joseph Josephs, the 7-year-old Lackawanna boy; Michael Kruck, the New York newsboy, and other similar crimes, the Lackawanna and Buffalo police tomorrow will lay their evidence before the grand jury and ask an indictment.

Messages giving the man's name and description have been sent broadcast. The last postcard received from the murderer was mailed from Boston Saturday morning, the day the body was found. News that the body had been recovered, the police think, caused the man to flee from that city, but they are confident he will be captured soon.

The principal evidence in the hands of the police is a letter written under a New York date and mailed at Whitings, N. J., Feb. 1, 1911. The handwriting on this letter tallies closely with that of the postcards, and will be placed before the grand jury without expert testimony to support it.

Letter Found by Millwright.
The letter was turned over to the police by John Hoskyn, chief millwright of the American Chemical Agricultural works of this city. The writer, according to Hoskyn, applied for work at the chemical works in September, 1911, and remained there four days. Upon leaving he promised to write to Hoskyn, which he did four months later. When Hoskyn saw reproductions of the Boston and New York postcards to Chief Gilson and George Josephs, the murdered boy's father, he noticed the similarity of the writing to that of the letter from Whitings, and turned it over to Chief Regan.

After a conference with Chief Gilson of Lackawanna today the girl's name was sent out asking for the arrest of the writer of the letter, but the police declined to make public the man's name.

The funeral of the Josephs boy was held at Lackawanna today. It was attended by hundreds of school children and business in the town was practically suspended in the hour of the funeral. Mrs. Josephs collapsed at the cemetery and is reported tonight to be in a serious condition.

TEXAN KILLS HIS SWEETHEART

Dependent Because of Postponed Marriage, Wichita Falls Lad Wants to End All.

Wichita Falls, Nov. 18.—"I had been thinking about ending it all ever since the day we were to have been married. I have carried a gun all the time. When I saw a ring on Beulah's finger at the party something paralyzed me and everything went black. I don't remember anything after that."

This was the statement of Sterling White, the 18 year old boy who shot and killed his sweetheart, Beulah Lee, aged 16, at a party near Petrolia Saturday night, after he regained consciousness. White is still alive with two bullet holes through his lungs just above his heart. Physicians say he cannot live longer than 24 hours. He has asked friends to pray for him. He says he wants to die.

White was found unconscious in a field about 200 yards from the home of Dave Webb, where he had killed Beulah Lee. Miss Lee and White had arranged to be married August 11, but because of her father's wishes the young woman decided to postpone the marriage.

Two Desperate Prisoners Escape.
Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 18.—Thos. V. Frayne and Michael Mullins, military convicts, who escaped from the prison at Alcatraz Island Saturday by sawing the bars of their cell and leaving the island on a raft, were two of the most desperate men ever confined in the military prison here, according to Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Salvens, warden. The men were transferred from Fort Leavenworth to Alcatraz last January. While confined here Frayne was tried 13 times by court martial and 123 times by the executive officers of the prison.

STATE TEXT BOOK BOARD TO RECONVENE DEC. 19

Austin, Nov. 18.—Governor Colquitt today announced that the State Text Book Board will reconvene Dec. 19 to consider bids for a United States history for advanced use, the books heretofore submitted having failed to come up to the board's requirements and not being satisfactory.

The law required that no history, to be used in the schools that did not treat the subject of the war between the states fairly, should be adopted. The text book board selected for adoption the book of Theodore Roosevelt, United States, published by Allyn and Bacon. A committee to recommend and suggest questions, additions and changes was appointed on this book as the board's first action.

The committee's severe criticisms of the book were made and the publishers withdrew their bids to furnish the books. Referring to the criticism of the board for their selection of this book Governor Colquitt, who, by the terms of the law, appointed the board and was chairman of it, made the following statement today in reply to these criticisms:

"So far as I am concerned, I would be willing to recommend to the legislature the passage of a bill prohibiting the use of any history in the public schools of Texas that is not true to both sides in the Civil war. So far as I am concerned I want the truth of history taught. If my father made a mistake, let his mistakes be discussed. I feel like my children are entitled to know the truth about their father as well as about their playmate's father. I think that history ought to state the truth and should not hide nor condone the failure of any."

"If this is done, it is not history but biased opinion. I don't agree with some criticisms of this text book board. I think they have been unwarranted, unjust and untrue. The facts of the war are a few men who themselves to criticize the action of others, does not make the criticisms true. I did not vote for the selection of the book in question, but feel like the members who did vote for it, knowingly, believing it would be made fair in discussing matters relating to the Civil war."

"I do not think any history this board might adopt that leaves out the pictures of men who played a prominent part on either side would be a true reflection of historical facts."

"One critic of the history insisted that the picture of Abraham Lincoln should be left out of it. I would rather resign the governor's office of Texas than to have my children studying a text book in our schools without the picture of Lincoln in it. I am the son of a Confederate soldier, too. I come from a family that gave as much blood and treasure as most any family in the South to the Confederate cause. I am not ashamed to say, in the light of history as an American citizen, that I am proud of Abe Lincoln."

The above is from the stenographic report of Governor Colquitt's remarks in answer to criticisms that had been made of the Text Book Board for selecting the history named for adoption. The entire board indicated their approval of what he said, and no member ever suggested leaving out Lincoln's picture, but the suggestion came from a critic of the Text Book Board.

With reference to the substitution of the picture of President-elect Wilson for that of President Taft, Governor Colquitt made the following statement:

"I had appointed a special committee to closely examine the geography selected for adoption. On pages 78 and 79 of the beginners' geography is a picture of the national capital of the White House and President Taft as its present occupant. The picture of no ex-president is shown in the book except that of George Washington and that on another page. The committee recommended that the book should show some Texas places of interest and importance and that the picture of President Wilson be substituted for that of President Taft, for the reason that when the book adopted comes into use next September Wilson would be the president then occupying the White House."

This recommended change was made solely that the truth might be reflected in the book as only the picture of the occupant of the White House.

$8,100 RAISED ON HOTEL BONUS

FIRST DAY OF THE COMMITTEE GETS RESULTS IN STARTING THE WORK.

NO STRINGS TO IT

EVERY SUBSCRIPTION IS GIVEN WITHOUT A CONDITION.

ROTAN IS HEADING THE LIST

Watt Will Bid For Bonus With a Hotel Project, But Gives $1000 to Help It Along.

Rotan Realty company..... $1500
Sanger Brothers..... 1000
Cameron & Co..... 1000
S. Archenthal & Co..... 1000
W. T. Watt..... 1000
H. M. Shear for Rotan Geo. Co..... 600
Goldstein & Migel Co..... 500
McLarty & Duke..... 500
T. J. Primm..... 500
E. W. Marshall..... 500

The above subscriptions are the actual results of the canvass yesterday for subscriptions to the bonus of $50,000 for the hotel, and there will be other names added to this today, when those who have asked for a night to think it over, indicate to the committee just what they will give.

The canvass started at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. During the forenoon there had been a meeting of the Central committee in the rooms of the Waco Business Men's club.

Present at the meeting were Chairman E. R. Bolton, E. W. Marshall, F. E. McLarty, G. H. Luedde, J. R. Millam, T. J. Primm, Ascher Sanger, Dr. S. P. Brooks, Frank Trau, E. F. Carroll, E. Rotan, L. Migel, J. Lee Davis, Isaac Friedlander, E. F. Drake and H. Hagedorn.

There was some discussion as to the best method to follow. It was determined first of all that the subscriptions must be given with no restrictions as to location or individuals. Then the list of bonus givers to the interurban and the Katy shops were brought out for reference.

Migel Gives Suggestion.
L. Migel said: "That list is too long to start with now. What we want is a small list of a few people. I have made out a tentative list and have put down some amounts here. For instance, I have put down Goldstein & Migel for $1000, Sanger Brothers for $2000 and August A. Busch & Co. for $2000. We will give that amount if the ratio is given by the others. We have just completed a $100,000 building and it is the only $100,000 that has been spent in erecting a new business building here since Waco was a village."

Mr. Luedde said: "I think Mr. Migel has started the figures a little high. At this rate a few men will give the entire bonus. I am willing to recommend to Mr. Busch $1000. I am going to give $1000 to our people about other improvements and will talk it over and telegraph back what we will give."

A. S. Sanger—"I have not talked around my father and cannot say what he will give."

Mr. Migel—"When I put down August A. Busch & Co. for $2000 I understood that Waco is the biggest distributing point in Texas for that company. I don't think Mr. Busch has done for Waco as he should in comparison with what has been done in Dallas."

Mr. Luedde—"All towns call on the Busch interests. But while he has done much for Dallas, Dallas also has done much for Mr. Busch. His investments there have been profitable. Mr. Busch is friendly to Waco."

It was decided that the Central committee should divide and make a canvass during the afternoon, and the following were appointed on the two: L. Migel, G. H. Luedde, S. P. Brooks, T. J. Primm, J. R. Millam, S. M. Ashan, R. B. Spencer, W. S. Duke Jr., E. W. Marshall, F. E. McLarty.

E. Rotan, chairman; J. Lee Davis, W. W. Cameron, I. Friedlander, A. R. Roberts, Ascher Sanger, E. F. Dennis, E. R. Bolton, Frank Trau.

Mr. Marshall announced that the committee would meet in the open; that every meeting would be a public one and press and the public invited.

Committee Starts Out.
When Mr. Rotan's committee met at the First National bank at 2:30 o'clock, there was a short conference held. Mr. Rotan said: "Gentlemen, I have thought this matter over and I will put down $1500. I think we ought to start with something on our list."

Mr. Cameron—"I think so. We have decided our amount. Are you ready to sign the list?" Sanger Brothers and Mr. Rotan—"Yes, I will sign for that amount."

Mr. Bolton—"We will sign for $1000. The committee then visited S. Archenthal & Co. As they walked in, Mr. Archenthal said: "Gentlemen, I know the whole story. I will sign for $1000 unconditionally."

The next visit was to Sam Sanger. Mr. Rotan presented the matter. Mr. Sanger asked what was on the list. Mr. Cameron spoke up and mentioned Mr. Rotan's subscription and the Archenthal subscription. Mr. Rotan answered: "I was too proud to give less than Sanger Brothers and too modest to give more."

Mr. Sanger said he would sign for $1000. "We are just trying to get money to improve the property we have taken over adjoining us here," he said.

W. W. Cameron spoke up: "We will carry you for a part of it. Mr. Sanger with hearty laughter by all."

Mr. Sanger—"I have given a thousand."

The next call was on W. T. Watt at the Provident bank. Mr. Rotan said: "Mr. Watt, I made you a speech some time ago that I think you will remember, of the facility with which

FIFTY THOUSAND STAMPS

INSTEAD OF FIFTEEN

It was a mistake in figures to state that Waco's sale of Red Cross stamps last season was only 15,000. It should have been 50,000. The correction should be made in order that those who contributed so generously can see that the record is clear. Five hundred dollars went from Waco to the Red Cross headquarters. The first shipment to Waco was 26,000 stamps. These were quickly sold, and an additional order sent. Some few remained and Mrs. Flora Cameron generously bought the remainder in order that not one should be returned. Waco is reported third in the sale. Perhaps she was, but she was first in proportion to her population and in the promptness with which the stamps were taken. The correction is made in justice to the liberal spirit of Waco.

Other touches were given during the service of four courses. Not dainty and delicate, but with nothing made such pleasure as the chatter of these girls around one of the most popular matron hostesses they could have found. In this circle were Misses Mary Ross, Minnie Kilbough, Margaret Horrell, Rose Edmond, Ida Orndorf, Mary Glover, Nettie May Wilkes and Grace Prather.

COTTON PALACE LESSON

FOR THE WOMEN

It is all over now. The lights lowered, the booths cleared, and we have a first day of pleasant memory for the Cotton Palace. What does this mean? It means that the day should, above all other thoughts, come this—the value of co-operation. Never in the history of women's work in Waco has there been such a general outpouring of good will upon a single object; every woman did her part, the small or great. Every woman showed her good will. Many women spoke the word of appreciation for those who were at the helm. There was no social line. There was not even the barrier of nationality. All the women of the city responded to the call of local patriotism. Na, more when the great halls were on when the parade were called, all along the line the women were a unit. This is as it should be. Once a year we meet all together to glorify that in which we all have a common interest—our home. So, with the last of the Cotton Palace for this year, let us apply the lesson for the next. This lesson is the value of co-operation and public spirit.

SOCIAL SIDE OF PALACE

DESERVES COMPLIMENT

One of the features of Cotton Palace season for which every woman in Waco deserves praise is the concentration of social life within the Palace gates. It is true that many thoughtful attentions were shown visitors. This is as it should be, for many are just as much visitors to the city as to see the exposition. But Waco deserves her praise for the manner in which she desisted from having anything to do with the attendance at the exposition. To be sure, there were some small affairs, small dinners and the like, but in nearly every instance these adjoined to the Palace. There were several attempts to hold club meetings, but the members were more loyal to the Palace than to the club, so the latter was called off. After the cessation of town gaiety came the general outpouring for what the Palace had to offer. Never before have Waco citizens met in a common ball room. Everybody danced in the Coliseum, and everybody was hail fellow well met with everybody else. The social history of Dallas and San Antonio and Houston will not reach the credit of Waco in this respect. Waco is the blue ribbon city for loyalty to the city's entertainment, the Cotton Palace.

Read all you can about Thanksgiving. The spirit of the day is undergoing change in sentiment. It is not alone our day for returning thanks to the Giver of all blessings, but it is the day for reviewing our national blessings, and it is the day for gathering about the home table the members who have gone forth from that home.

Say the word of appreciation to the women who labored so faithfully for the Cotton Palace. They will appreciate it. They did unselfish service, and we should all recognize it.

Wonder what you are going to make pretty for Christmas? There are so many tiding ideas being promulgated now. Make the gift and it will be acceptable, all but the razor set for the wife and the dainty table linen for the husband as was chronicled from one home.

HONORING THE PLACE.

This writing may seem somewhat tardy, but it is every whit as sincere and expressive of appreciation to Attorney General-elect B. F. Leoney for his appointment of C. M. Cureton of Meridian to be his first assistant, as if it had been published coincident with the announcement.

If a personal note may be pardoned, the writer would account for his estimate of Mr. Cureton by the fact that he was somewhat closely in touch with the man and his work during the cycloney days of the Thirty-second legislature, and before. No representative of the larger dailies of Texas as whose "punishment" it was to sit through and report the State prohibition election investigation by the House committee of that special session of August, 1911, will withhold admiration for the ability, courtesy and candor of the representative from Bosque county. Mr. Cureton was the examiner, inquisitor or prosecutor—according to your view—of that investigation for the prohibition majority of the committee and was a leader of that wing in the House.

It was rather an unhappy and vexatious performance, that investigation; necessarily so, with too much of the bitterness of the campaign leading to and engendered by the result of the election of July 22 surviving and rampant. But Representative Cureton ignored this situation as far as possible; his questioning was quiet, gentlemanly, considerate—that it was been need not be mentioned now, for his examination of Mr. Wolters has seldom been excelled in that line of legislative history in Texas. The chairman of the anti-prohibition forces expressed his appreciation of Mr. Cureton's attitude toward himself, publicly and privately. There was no narrowness, no bias, no venom in the political tactics of this member of the House at any time. He was respected and liked by all his colleagues, regardless of stand on the question of prohibition.

Mr. Cureton's candidacy for congressman-at-large received the third highest endorsement before the July primary—he was "runner-up" in that victory for which more than twenty well-known Texans contested. He was supported and voted for by Democrats without the intrusion of any question but his fitness to serve the whole State at Washington; and as lawyer, student of public affairs and a man of disinterested, serviceable patriotism his fitness is known throughout Texas. Many regret he was not returned to Congress. But it now appears there was a pleasant use of that adversity, for Texas is to employ his ability in an office demanding conscientious, highly intelligent devotion to its public interests.

It is seldom one editorializes at such length on a State appointment, and to personal friendship may, perhaps, be ascribed some part of these lines. But all personal considerations apart, we feel that the State and the coming attorney general, no less than Mr. Cureton, are to be congratulated.

JEFFERSON'S MEMORIAL.

Save for comparatively infrequent newspaper comment, and dispatches from Austin relative to invitations to Governor Colquitt to participate in the movement, there has been surprisingly slight interest manifested popularly in Texas concerning the plan for national ownership of Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson. It is desired that Monticello be acquired and cared for much as was done with the home of Washington, Mount Vernon, and the movement headed by Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, wife of the congressman from New York, informs the nation that it "will be preserved as an enduring shrine for the American people."

It is to be emphasized that there is a Senate committee appointed "to inquire into the wisdom and ascertain the price of acquiring Monticello as the property of the United States." There is little doubt the homestead will become one of the most notable monuments of the Nation, if broadly known sentiment is to be considered by Congress in deciding this question. But it were well if this movement, than which there can be no more patriotic plan for the South's endorsement, came in for more active public support in Texas and in every Southern State. It is not to be believed the time ever will come in any part of the United States, but more especially in the South, when the spirit of veneration, even of affection for the life and achievements of Jefferson will diminish.

The Atlanta Journal is doing strong service in Georgia in its advocacy of the plan to restore, beautify and consecrate this privately owned "historic site where the great teacher of Democracy spent the last days of life and where his tomb now stands neglected." It is to be hoped that the press of the South generally will participate again and again in such a plea and in the work of the committee of well-known men and women that is making the Monticello movement one of National importance—which it should be. The Journal has printed this brief sketch of Monticello in its editorial:

Monticello, which stands on a mountain crest three miles from Charlottesville, Va., was completed by Jefferson in 1802, after thirty years of work. To this longed-for home he retired some seven years later. So exclusively had he devoted himself to the public's service that his own fortune had gone to rack and in old age he found himself burdened with debt. It became necessary for him to part with many of his personal treasures, the most precious of which was his liberty. When at length it became known that Monticello itself would have to go, people throughout the country began raising a fund to save his home. "His last days," writes Mrs. Littleton, "were soled by the belief that the subscriptions were enough to free the estate from debt and enough to secure home and independence for his only child, Martha. He said that he was proud to be the object of his countryman's liberality, that it was a pure offering of love."

But the fund did not prove sufficient to its purpose. On July the fourth, 1826—the fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence—Jefferson died. Despite all that could be done, his daughter was forced to advertise Monticello for sale.

The estate was purchased in the autumn of 1831 by James T. Barclay for the sum of seven thousand dollars. The family reserved the graveyard, with free access to it for themselves. In 1836 Monticello, together with two hundred and eighty acres, was sold to Uriah Levy, who, upon his death, some twenty-six years later, willed the property "to the people of the United States." It seems, however, that certain kinsmen of Captain Levy contested this provision of his will on grounds which the courts sustained and so the Jefferson home remained a private possession, as it does to this day.

The present movement to acquire Monticello for the American people has brought a hearty response to Congress from the country as a whole. If steadily supported by public sentiment the movement, no doubt, will succeed.

"That the author of our Declaration of Independence and the leader of a philosophy that brought new freedom to the world should be forsaken in the last scene of his splendid career is a reproach upon American citizenship. "Jefferson's home should be purchased through the government and placed within the perpetual keeping of the Republic he did so much to establish and maintain.

"It is believed that if the people as a whole will earnestly support this enterprise with their united sentiment, the government will take due action and that the present owners of the property will consent to its release."

BEGIN SHOPPING NOW.

A month has elapsed since we "rushed the season" by urging the women—and the cohort of lone bachelors who are "without blessing," as the Reverend Mr. Warsaw puts it—to make iron-clad resolutions that they will do their Christmas and holiday shopping early for the sake of store employees, the merchants and the purchasing power of their own dollars. And there is now more emphasis to be placed on the fact that with the great holiday of gifts but five weeks distant the shops have laid in their special stocks and, apparently, are still checking the calendar toward the beginning of the busiest season—the same old situation, looking to an eleventh-hour rush.

If consideration for the workers in Waco's stores and factories is a plea that fails to enter the conscience of the average shopper, the argument that by purchasing thus early she will serve her own interest is, we think, again worth stressing—the means is of little significance, after all, if the end can be accomplished: shop early. Begin shopping now. There are more classes of goods and infinitely more gift articles from which to choose than there will be three, even two weeks hence. One can shop more leisurely and with better judgment, receive more careful attention from clerks and demonstrators and be able to place orders sufficiently in advance of Christmas week to insure seasonable delivery of goods. "Early buying" is not only humane for employees, it is sensible for customers, in that it gives the merchant opportunity to become familiar with the popular trend of buying—for the contents of the shop do not wholly dictate the buyer's preferences—"in season to conform from his stock with the more noticeable preferences in any line of wares and merchandise." Better prices may be obtained at this time; the recklessness of last-minute buying is eliminated; trading is still on a "normal" basis.

The merchants are doing their part. In some respects, but they can greatly encourage early buying, offer an incentive, by displaying holiday goods within the coming fortnight, at latest. To an extent it will be economical for the merchants, for they will be saved a deal of extra clerk hire, extra delivery wagon hire, night shopping and the damage to stock that results from hasty and inconsiderate handling. That last is no mean argument, for the treatment of open-display stocks in the last week or ten days before December 25 is well-nigh damaging and impairs the value of merchandise for both before and after Christmas sale.

In this brief summary of the reasons that make early shopping humane, sensible and economical for all concerned is the plea on which benevolently inclined organizations and civic associations are basing their annual campaign to induce buying during the month beginning November 15:

"Everyone should co-operate so far as possible in this new spirit of commercial emancipation. While the movement is designed primarily for the benefit of store employees, it must not be forgotten that the public also has an important interest in it. Fresh stocks to choose from and plenty of time for choosing what one wants, with alert and ready clerks to serve, will more than compensate for any little annoyance that might result from having to come down town a little oftener. Even this last petty annoyance is not necessary. The careful shopper who prepares his Christmas list ought to be ready to make his purchases fully two weeks ahead of the final rush of the inevitable army of the tardy. The early Christmas shopping spirit grows."

Texas Viewpoints

All Together.

Texas Cotton Palace officials announce last Saturday's total admissions for the day to have been over $2,000—the biggest day in the history of the big exposition. We of Central Texas are proud of the good showing and fine success being achieved by our Cotton Palace and city of Waco. We predict that this is but a beginning of great achievements for this city and this section of the state.—Mart Herald.

Even in the aftermath, it helps to note such examples of the spirit of unselfishness, of "pull together" that is at the foundation of the progress of Texas communities. In the five years past there has come to be a desire for the advancement of every city in this boundless State before which any survival of sectional jealousy has disappeared. Every town now realizes that any public event tending to the advantage of Texas, or any part of Texas, is for its own benefit and co-operation everywhere is now in vogue. To Mart, and to every town in Central Texas, Waco and the Cotton Palace directorate owe much gratitude that may be repaid only by making this big exposition annually as much of an exemplar of our neighbors' progress and products as it is of the enterprise of this central city.

What's The Use?

Then the pie may not be passed as fast as some may think while Woodrow Wilson is chief chef of the government bakery. We are of the opinion that Mr. Wilson will be a little slow in turning the "rascales out" unending good cause can be shown why they should vacate the high stool on which they were permitted by President Taft. If you remember that far back Mr. Cleveland was a little cautious in this regard, and this policy may be followed pretty closely by the new president. Hon. Cato Sells has intimated as much, and it may be that many are tearing their pantaloons a little previous. At any rate, be calm, and if you have to wait two or three years for your job, there will be lots of cotton to chop next spring.—Camden Herald.

"BATH TUB TRUST" CITY PROBLEMS GETS BODY BLOW TO BE DISCUSSED

U. S. SUPREME COURT BRANDS ILLEGAL ALLEGED "LICENSE AGREEMENTS."

DECISION BEARS ON OTHERS

Government Officials Declare Several Investigations Under Way Will Be Greatly Strengthened.

Washington, Nov. 18.—In an epoch-making decision today in the so-called "bath tub trust" case, the supreme court of the United States laid down the broad principle that there can be no monopoly in the patented product of a patented machine without violating the Sherman anti-trust law. Justice McKenna delivered the unanimous opinion of the court. In accordance with this doctrine the court struck down as illegal the "license agreements" by which manufacturers of 85 per cent of the sanitary enameled iron in the United States were bound together in a combination. The license agreements allowed the manufacturers to use a patented dredger but only on condition that they abide by an attached price list; would not sell to jobbers who bought from independents, would not sell in certain territory and would not sell "seconds."

Officials of the department of justice were highly elated over the decision which, it is claimed, will have an important bearing upon several investigations now under way by Attorney General Wickersham as well as anti-trust suits already filed against the so-called "moving picture trust" and the United Shoe Machinery Company.

The decision is regarded as vitally important because of the government's claim that the patent license agreement plan was being adopted by many persons as a result of the decision upon the "pure trust" plan, as exemplified in the case of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio; the "holding company" plan as declared invalid in the Northern Securities case and the combination of a holding company, a manufacturing company, as shown in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases.

Justice McKenna declared that the effect of the agreements was to combine the patents into a combination, subject to rules and regulations.

"The trade was practically controlled from producer to consumer," he said, "and the potency of the scheme was established by the co-operation of 85 per cent of the manufacturers and their fidelity to it was secured not only by trade advantages, but by what was practically a pecuniary trust, not inapplicable in the argument of the defendant."

Prosecutor Expresses Views. Edwin P. Grosvener, special assistant to the attorney general, who prosecuted the case and argued it in the supreme court, said tonight:

"On the argument in the supreme court the main reliance of the defendants was the decision in Dick v. Henry, called the mimeograph case, rendered by the supreme court last March. There it was held that the owner of a patent on a mimeograph may compel the purchaser of the patented mimeograph to buy from him the paper, ink, and other materials to be used on the mimeograph, although the paper, ink and other materials are not covered by the patent. "The decision of today refuses to extend the doctrine of the Dick case to the unpatented product of a patented machine. The defendants in the bath tub case, owning patents on machines used in the manufacture of enameled ware, attempted to fix prices and destroy competition in commerce in the unpatented ware. "The economic effect of the prosecution by Attorney General Wickersham is interesting. The case commenced operations in June, 1910. At once complaints poured into the department of justice. The attorney general commenced proceedings July, 1910. Since that time the defendants have fallen from 25 to 40 per cent yet today nearly all of the manufacturers engaged in the business are still making money at the reduced prices prevailing in this period of competition."

JURY OUT 88 HOURS, DISAGREES.

E. G. Lewis Found Not Guilty on Three Indictments.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—The jury in the case of E. G. Lewis, charged with using the mails to defraud, is reported to Judge Willard in the United States district court today that it had found Lewis was not guilty in each of the eleven counts in the indictment and that it was unable to agree as to the other counts. The jury was discharged at 11 o'clock.

The counts on which the jurors found Lewis not guilty related to some seven per cent notes. The jury had been out eighty-nine hours and on the first ballot voted eight to four that Lewis was not guilty. Subsequent ballots showed the jurors stood nine to three for acquittal.

TO CONFER WITH TAFT.

Texas Delegates Many Changes in Officials as They Plan to Meet. Houston, Nov. 18.—Republican National Committeeman MacGregor will leave Houston Wednesday for a conference with President Taft at the White House. Mr. MacGregor today confirmed the report that there will be many changes in officials here in Texas shortly.

"Those who did not shoot will have to give up their guns," he said. Federal appointees named for this time will have approximately six months to serve before appointees made by President-elect Wilson could qualify.

Girl, 4, Burned to Death. Texarkana, Nov. 18.—The four-year-old daughter of Street Commissioner Homer Bowen burned to death today when her clothing ignited from a fire in the yard about which she was playing with other children.

AMERICAN CIVIC ASSOCIATION TO CONVENE AT BALTIMORE FOR 3 DAYS.

CITY PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED

Last Two Conferences Held at Washington Prove Beneficial in Upbuilding Municipalities.

Baltimore, Nov. 18.—Problems confronting American cities and the advance methods being followed in progressive communities to meet them will be the basis of discussion at the eighth annual convention of the American Civic association, which opens here tomorrow for sessions covering three days. Well-known students of municipal affairs, including leading figures in women's national organizations and municipal experts from Canada, will participate in the round table discussions and the business meetings at which over a score of important bills will be presented. The activities of the convention cover a wide range of municipal matters. Ambassadors James Bryce of Great Britain, is to speak on the general subject of "National Parks—The Need of the Future." The majority of the addresses, however, will be upon researches and studies of a municipal character. These include discussions of the "bill board nuisance," public parks, city tree planting, back yard improvement, smoke prevention, fly fighting, and many other subjects.

Associated with the American Civic association are many national organizations which will make comprehensive reports of their activities. The National Municipal League will present its work through its secretary, Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia. The General Federation of Women's Clubs will be represented by Mrs. George Zimmerman of Fremont, O., its vice chairman. Chairman Frederick Law Olmstead, who will represent the National Conference on City Planning; Miss Lella Mechin of Washington, the American Civic association; the Toronto Horticultural Association.

The last two conferences of the American Civic association were held in Washington. Since the last meeting many new communities have undertaken civic improvement work suggested through the conferences of municipal workers. Reports are to be presented at this meeting upon almost a nation-wide campaign against the house fly. The session of the convention Wednesday afternoon will be in part a "house fly" session. Edwin Hatcher, Jr., of New York, chairman of the fly-fighting committee, presiding. Mr. Hatch will report upon the work of the national anti-fly committee; Dr. Jean Dawson, upon the fly crusade in Cleveland, and Dr. A. L. Murray upon the Washington crusade.

Interesting discussions are expected over the bill board problems based upon a paper by Raymond B. Postick, former commissioner of accounts of New York. Mr. Postick made an investigation of the bill board situation in that city, and will make recommendations as to regulations for advertising signs. Henry F. Baker of Baltimore, is to discuss another important municipal subject, that of smoke prevention and a general discussion is expected on this issue.

J. Horace McFarland of Harrisburg, Pa., president of the association, will open its convention tomorrow. Cardinal Gibbons is expected to deliver the opening invocation. The morning's session will be devoted to organization conducting work related to that of the American Civic association. Each afternoon of the convention will be devoted to "round table" discussion of municipal affairs.

GOV. COLQUITT ON TEXT BOOKS

House was intended to be shown and when the book adopted came into use President Taft would no longer be its occupant. That's all there is to this story which has been so widely spread by the Austin correspondents of Eastern and Western newspapers. Although the proceedings of the Texas Book Board were open to the public and a stenographic report of what was said, it is doubtful if the man who sent the story to his papers was ever nearer than six blocks of where he could have gotten the exact facts. So far as President Taft is concerned, I have more than one time on public occasions stated that I believed him to be a man of great ability and that he had made us a good president and certainly few of our presidents have been as generous and gracious to the people of the Southern States as President Taft has. I would never consent to doing him an injustice and wrong such as the story sent to the papers from Austin indicates. I am certain every member of the Text Book Board feels about it just as I have expressed myself.

"The people of Texas as a whole, are broad-minded, fair and just. I feel sure that what I said about Lincoln and what I have said about the president is shared in and approved by practically all our people. Of course, there are exceptions but they will be found to be very few. But our state has suffered often from erroneous and false statements sent out about us by correspondents who receive pay for such misrepresentation."

Notice. This is to give notice that I have been appointed by the county court of McLennan county, Texas, independent auditor of the will and estate of W. H. H. H. and all persons having claims against said estate should present the same to me at once for payment. JNO. F. WRIGHT. (Adv.)

DIXIE THEATRE HAS A FIRE LOSS

FILM GETS TOO CLOSE TO LAMP
GLOBE AND IS AT ONCE A BURNING MASS.

OPERATOR IS QUICKLY OUT

Audience Makes a Hasty Exit—Firemen Do Good Work—Injunction Against Ordinance.

A fire that started in the operating machine booth guttered the Dixie theatre at 407 Austin street at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Twenty-five persons were in the building and all escaped without injury. The operator and his helper were slightly burned about the face and hands.

The loss in the building was estimated at $3000 and on theatre fixtures $5000.

The fire is believed to have started when one of the films came in contact with an electric light. Suddenly the whole booth was aflame and the operator, E. A. Barton, and his helper, Eddie Austenuhl, had difficulty in making their escape. The confusion thus created warned the audience and they left the show quickly.

Quickly the flames burned through to the roof and flames twenty feet high leaped from the skylight before the arrival of the fire department.

Adjoining buildings were in danger for a brief period until the fire was under control. No damage was done save to the pool room in the rear of Primm's Smoke House, to the Smoke House Tailor Shop, to the Moose Hall and to the Turf bar. This damage was from water and smoke.

The building was barred and closed in the rear and the firemen waged their fight on the flames from the front. Several lines of hose were dragged to the second-story windows and the aerial truck was elevated and hose went to the roof. Dense clouds of smoke escaped through the broken windows and made it hazardous work for the firemen to get to the fire.

The building is owned by the Putnam estate, and the picture show was owned and conducted by W. L. Terry.

Some Slight Injuries. On leaving the entrance with the cash register, Thomas E. Clemmons of Beaumont, national organizer of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' league, was caught by fifty pounds of plastering that fell, and suffered slight injuries about the neck.

At the time the fire started Operator Barton and his helper were near each other in the supposedly fireproof booth. Austenuhl was rewinding a reel that had just been run and it is supposed he accidentally let a portion of it come in contact with an incandescent light. The booth was lined with sheet iron and asbestos.

Ben Hudson, an extra man in the fire department, gathered up the funds on hand in her small booth at the front and made her escape. She says she never saw people leave a place more orderly than did those of the audience and that not a particle of excitement occurred.

The insurance carried on the premises was as follows:

In J. M. Killough agency, $1000 on the building.
In Friedlander & Luedde agency, $3000 on the furniture and fixtures.
In Walter V. Port agency, $2000 on the furniture and fixtures.

Firemen Do Quick Work. The fire was quickly broken out and apparently as quick to be extinguished, judging by the minutes told by the watch. The alarm was given exactly at 11:10 o'clock. At 11:20 the roof was in and at 11:30 the firemen had withdrawn nearly all the hose and were just putting out the scattered embers.

There was a meeting of business men in the rooms of the Waco Business Men's club at the time. Mr. R. Roten, Mr. Bolton, E. W. Marshall, Mr. Sanger, J. R. Millam and other citizens were present. The excitement on the street below attracted their attention and from the seventeenth floor they were interested spectators of the fire and of the work of the department.

Before any apparatus had reached the ground the fire had come through the skylight, which was located just above the moving picture machine booth in the center of the building. It was a careful creeping fire at first, then it became an angry flame that whipped and cut and tongued into the outer air from the inside of the house. Then the fireman got inside, and water was poured upon it, and there came from that narrow hole in the roof huge billows of black smoke that swept like dark clouds across the main streets of the town. Then flames crept along the edge of the building and smoke came out of the cracks toward the rear of the house. But a stream came up in the narrow alley between the burning house and the majestic theatre building, and water soon stopped the progress in that part of the building. Within eleven minutes from the time the alarm was sounded, the aerial truck dropped men and water lines to the roof of the building next door, and the firemen played on the flames from above and below.

The quick work of the fire department was watched by the hundreds of men who stood at that window high above them. Interested witnesses of the excellent of the protection that is afforded by that well organized city department, but it was not watched in silence. There were several remarks on the subject, each of those in the party commenting on the fact that the flames were confined to the one structure.

City Ordinance Enjoined. The city some time ago passed an ordinance which had for its purpose the prevention of a fire of this character. The ordinance was that which is recommended by the state fire rating board, specifying just how the booth in which the operating of a moving picture machine is done shall be constructed. The specifications are believed to make such booths absolutely fireproof. This is necessary, as the film used in such exhibitions is very inflammable. But when this ordinance was passed one of the moving picture proprietors secured a temporary injunction in the Nineteenth district court, restraining the city from enforcing the ordinance requiring the safe construction. After the temporary injunction has been pending for some time, City Attorney Lind T. Williams and Assistant City Attorney W. R. Saunders went into the Nineteenth district court and asked to have it dissolved. Arguments were heard, Scott & Ross appearing for the moving picture proprietors. No order has yet been entered in the case. It has been hanging fire now for some time, with the matter before the judge of that court, the city being without a decision on the case one way or the other, except the original restraining order. It is generally believed that the injunction will be made permanent and the city will be restrained from enforcing a protection on Austin street property that is recommended by the state fire rating board.

The opinion of those who have studied the question believe that when the court does finally hand down a decision, which will be probably during the next few weeks, it will be to the effect that the city charter is not broad enough to grant the city the power to regulate such construction. However, the city does enforce an ordinance as to other construction in the fire limits.

FIRE AT COTTON OIL MILL

Men From Department, Aided By Workmen, Nip Blaze in Bud and Save Big Structure.

Firemen, with the assistance of workmen, nipped in the bud a fire beneath the floor of the crating room of the Brazos Valley Cotton Oil company at 8 o'clock last night. The fire was caused by defective wiring. The crating room is located near the center of the plant and it would have been a card fire to control if it had broken through the floor, which was saturated with oil.

The loss was practically nothing. The building was filled with smoke when the fire department arrived. Little available space was left beneath the floor for shafts and machinery and it was very difficult work for the firemen to reach the blaze, which burned the insulation off a wire for several yards and was eating into the floor in several places.

The emergency fire equipments at the plant were put into service and workmen were trying to locate the fire when Chief Prescott arrived. The smoke and heat from the steam pipes made entering the small opening under the floor almost impossible. With the assistance of his men Chief Prescott turned water on the fire and extinguished it within a few minutes.

CENTRAL WILL GET FOUNTAIN

Experiment Will First Be Tried at This School, While the Others Patiently Wait.

The new drinking fountains ordered for the Central public school have not yet arrived, but they are expected within the next week or two. The fountain will be on the order of the fountains shown at the Cotton Palace in the main building and labeled as the kind which would be adopted in the public schools of the city.

Fountains in the other schools will be installed as soon as a design has been agreed upon after the tests of the fountains adopted for the Central building. It is possible that the same sort of fountain will be placed in the other schools, provided it proves satisfactory, but if it does not, another design will be employed, to be agreed upon by the school board later.

NIGHT SCHOOL FLOURISHES.

Attendance Expected to Be Even Larger After Christmas.

The night school which is held in the high school building twice each week now has an enrollment of fifty-six students, all of them working boys and girls who, because of their employment, cannot attend school during the day.

For the past two or three weeks, however, during and just prior to the Cotton Palace, the average attendance has not been more than thirty-five pupils each night.

While the attendance is expected to increase right along, it is believed that the largest increase will come after the Christmas holidays.

Called meeting of Waco Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic Grand Temple at 3 p. m. Tuesday, the 19th, to attend the funeral of Brother J. B. Trice. All visiting brethren invited.

IN THE LOCAL COURTS

PETER MCLELLAND WILL CASE IS TO BE ARGUED TODAY.

Contest For a Big Estate In This County—Ross Against Insurance Company on Trial.

Arguments on the demurrer filed by attorneys for the trustees in the famous Peter McClelland case will be heard in the federal court this morning. Judge T. S. Maxey and other court officials will arrive this morning from Austin and San Antonio.

A demurrer was filed to the claims set out in the original and amended petitions filed by Peter McClelland, Sr., twenty-six years ago. The case has been in court since the death of Peter McClelland, Sr., and has been in the state supreme court three times and in the circuit court of civil appeals at Austin once.

The case has been in court since the death of Peter McClelland, Sr., and has been in the state supreme court three times and in the circuit court of civil appeals at Austin once.

The petition asks for the immediate possession of the property and in the event the court rules it is to be held in trust during his natural lifetime, that it then be given to his children. This is virtually the only new issue brought to the attention of the court.

There will be a galaxy of brilliant attorneys present to represent J. K. Ross, the trustee, and the plaintiff, Judge Maxey may not give the attorneys over a day to present their claims.

SUES ON A CONTRACT.

Trial of the Case Between Harry B. Ross and Oklahoma Insurance Co.

Trial of the suit of Harry B. Ross against the Oklahoma Fire Insurance company, in which he alleges breach of contract and prays the recovery of $61,000, was begun in the Nineteenth district court yesterday morning. This is the second time the case has been tried before a jury, the first trial having resulted in a hung jury.

According to the allegations of the plaintiff, he was appointed state agent for Texas of the Oklahoma Fire Insurance company, with a five year contract. After having served for ten months, he alleges the company breached the contract and he was removed from office.

Alleging his claims for $61,000 upon the commissions paid by the company to the state agent for the ten months during which he was in charge plus fourteen more months, he completes the commission he would have earned during the full term of his contract at $61,000.

The plaintiff is represented by Scott and Ross, E. J. Clark and W. R. Saunders, while the defense is represented by Burwell, Crockett & Johnson, of Oklahoma City, and Sleeper, Boynton & Kendall, of Waco.

It is probable that the case will consume the entire week.

MISS BONNIE WALLACE DIES

Popular Teacher of Sanger Avenue School Passes Away—Has Been In Poor Health a Year.

At the home of her mother, Mrs. A. S. Wallace, Eleventh and Franklin streets, occurred the death of Miss Bonnie J. Wallace, at 7:35 o'clock yesterday morning. She was a teacher at the Sanger Avenue school, well known throughout the city and especially in society circles. She had been in poor health for a year, but did not give up her school until two months ago. Miss Zuma Wallace, a sister, and a brother, Francis, and a mother survive.

The funeral services will be held from the house this morning at 10 o'clock and burial made in Oakwood cemetery. The services will be conducted by Rev. E. L. Crystal and Rev. E. E. Ingram. Active pallbearers will be J. C. Lattimore, S. H. Hickman, A. W. Flanken, O. E. Arbuckle, I. N. Odom and L. P. Bailey; honorary pallbearers, Luke Moore, E. Rotan, W. D. Lacy, J. T. Strain, L. B. Black, Vim Hunt, A. A. Peoples, Dr. S. E. Shelton and Sam Sanger.

As a tribute to her beloved teacher and friend the pupils of the Sanger Avenue school will not attend their classes this morning. Miss Wallace also was well liked and highly respected by Superintendent Lattimore and members of the school board. She has been a public school instructor for a number of years, teaching at Denison before coming to Waco. She was a woman of the most pleasant and generous disposition and had a world of friends wherever known.

J. B. Trice.

The funeral services of James B. Trice, aged 59 years, who died at San Antonio Sunday, will be conducted from the T. D. Mayo residence, 1311 Austin avenue, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The body arrived here yesterday afternoon. He was a well-known traveling man and formerly lived in Waco. He is survived by a wife and two sons.

COUNTY MAY USE TYPEWRITERS

County Clerk-elect Delays Final Appointments Until Question Is Determined—Names Four.

Because he does not want to make more appointments than he can handle, thereby disappointing some of his friends, Judge J. W. Baker, recently elected county clerk, has announced but four of his deputy clerks and probably will not announce any others until the court passes upon his recommendation to install the typewriting system in the offices. This cannot be done until after Judge Baker and Judge Geo. Denton, the new county judges, take over the two offices.

C. T. Wallace, the present county clerk, Fred Oliver and John Sears, deputies now, and Claude Miller of West, are the deputies named by Judge Baker. If the typewriting system is installed in the clerk's office, it is probable that but two more deputies will be needed and these will have to be experienced users of the machine. If this system is not employed, four more deputies will be needed, and they should be expert penmen.

Aside from making clearer and better records, Judge Baker says the typewriter will prove much speedier in handling the business of his office, will prove more economical in more economical in clerk hire alone and will save space on the shelves, which is now at a premium. Practically all of the shelves in the clerk's office now are filled to capacity, but typewritten books will be far more compact than those written by hand.

Practically all of the modern clerks' offices in the state now are employing the typewriter. The one objection which some years ago was made to its use was that the records, when typewritten, were not so permanent as when written with pen and ink. A recently invented ribbon, however, makes the records more permanent than the hand written records.

NEW CARS AND NEW RAILS

Traction Company Adds Four—To Take Place of Those Borrowed
For Cotton Palace.

The Southern Traction Company yesterday received four new cars, which is the balance of the delayed order of cars that was to have been filled before the Cotton Palace, but being held back at the factory, it was necessary for cars to be borrowed.

These new cars are trailers and are like the motor cars recently purchased. They will give new equipment that will be a great addition to the facilities here.

The street car company also received yesterday the rails for the work on North Fifth street, and this track is to be put down at once. For several days they have been getting ready for these rails and there are four blocks excavated for the new material.

Loose Trees Under a Train.

With the statement that he was pushed from the steps of a Missouri, Kansas & Texas passenger train, Mexican was found beside the track at Sixteenth and Jackson streets, yesterday morning with the toes of his left foot cut off and his neck lacerated and bruised. The conductor in charge of the train told the police the Mexican jumped off the train.

The police took charge of the Mexican, who cannot speak English, and sent him to the Providence Sanitarium. He carried a railroad pass from Austin and was coming here to work with a section gang.

TEACHERS TO BE EXAMINED.

Thanksgiving, Then Christmas

With the Cotton Palace over, thoughts quickly turn to Thanksgiving and then Christmas and the Holiday shopping.

"Do your Christmas Shopping Early" has been flashed in every city throughout the country. It is a slogan that has come to stay, because a thoughtful public have realized that it is much more comfortable to shop ahead of the Holiday rush, and in doing so this thoughtful public have materially lightened the burdens of those who serve you in the store, seen and unseen. With the hearty co-operation of our patrons we have, for the past three years cut down the heretofore long and tedious hours of our hundreds of employes, and instead of keeping open until 11 and 12 o'clock, our store closed on Christmas Eve promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

We intend to follow the same plan for Early Christmas Closing this year as originated, inaugurated and maintained by the Sanger Store for the last three years at Holiday time.

Box Car Sleepers Awake to Find

Inquest Held.

The crowd at the Cotton Palace yesterday almost equalled that of the highest day of the big exposition, but the persons were not there to make merry and be entertained. They were to take away the articles on exhibition that assisted in making the Cotton Palace the big entertainment it was.

At nightfall the exhibit halls were barren, the stock had gone from the pens and the show and concession men of the outside had pulled their last peg and quietly disappeared.

In a few days the directors will hold a meeting and be in a position to furnish information regarding the actual number in attendance, the total gate receipts and the net profit. President Hoffmann stated yesterday that he could not say when the meeting would be held, and added that it would be sometime this week.

Reports coming from unofficial sources indicate the Cotton Palace was a greater success from a financial standpoint than generally anticipated even by those who marveled at the remarkably large crowds.

The Patterson shows are said to have done a remarkable business. Over $5,000 was banked on the banner day, Saturday, Nov. 9, and between one and two thousand dollars was taken in every day, it is said.

The roller coaster did a remarkable business after it was out of commission the first days and was repaired and the church workers and restaurant men who maintained eating places reaped a good harvest.

Mr. Berlowitz wishes to state to the public that he has now slaughtered that fine bunch of Dr. Chilton's Pole cattle and also some prize-winning hogs. Ring either phone No. 30, for the best meat on the market, or Berlowitz Meat Market, A. Berlowitz, proprietor.

PROPERTY ENDANGERED

BY UNAVOIDABLE FLAMES

There are millions of dollars lost each year by fire caused from unknown origin and despite the fact that there is all modern fire equipment, persons have been unable to save the property from either total or partial loss.

There are millions also spent each year to suppress the so-called "drugs," but no one has ever been able to conquer the dreadful property consumer. Every property owner in Waco and elsewhere takes a long chance daily when he goes without protection from the flames that have caused so many once well-to-do citizens to be poverty stricken. Many families have been awakened, by chance, to save their lives and not their property, while others, of course, have been as unfortunate as to lose some member of the family. That cannot be avoided, yet the loss of property can by use of insurance which has saved many a man from going "to the wall" and enabled him to go back into business and enjoy prosperity as before without the great backset of having to start life's long, hard struggle of accumulating wealth all over again.

Would it not be advisable to you, Mr. Property Owner, to investigate the matter of protection from loss of your business, property, merchandise, of home, with all its valuables, today, rather than suffer later as others have?

Moore & Moore are prepared to supply you with the best insurance to be had from the old reliable companies, which have paid many losses and are stronger today than ever before.

Beware of the fire alarm! When you hear it sound or see the engine on its mad rush to battle with devouring flames, it is too late to thing of insurance if it is your property burning on endangered by the fire.

Today is the day to insure. The next fire may get you.

See us first. We have the protection you need.
